Did you know that the frequency of visits to the vet depends on the pet's age, lifestyle and breed?

My knowledge base

Never give your pet onions, garlic, grapes, raisins, chocolate and macadamia nuts!

These foods are poisonous to animals! For example, eating onions and garlic can cause your pet to become anemic and grapes can cause kidney problems. Also, the darker the chocolate, the more dangerous it is for your pet, as even a small amount can cause acute theobromine toxicosis.

My pet's eyes are snottier than usual and there is more discharge than usually. What could be the cause and what should you do?
